Meet Your Neonatal Lead:

"My first daughter was born extremely premature, and after discharge, I couldn't stop thinking about the families and babies still in the units. I began volunteering in a neonatal unit while building on my background in communication and training by completing a diploma in coaching and group facilitation.

I now use my lived experience and professional skills to train healthcare professionals in creating partnerships with parents, ensuring families are supported and engaged in their baby's care.

As your Neonatal Lead, I'll bring my commitment, passion, and skills to ensure your voice is heard and that, together, we improve neonatal services."
